The Client

What started as a property management company nearly 20 years ago, Elliot Leigh has grown over the course of time to diversify and develop the business. In the last few years, Elliot Leigh have expanded into the care sector and now work in partnership with several local authorities supporting the needs of young people leaving care.

Originally starting with just 2 partners, the business now has over 35 employees in various locations around London and Essex. More recently, they have opened Elliot Leigh Residential which provides sales and letting services throughout East London & Essex.

The Challenge

Having grown exponentially over the past few years Elliot Leigh outgrew their previous premises in East London. They felt that by bringing all the businesses within the group together under one roof would provide a cohesive and collaborative working environment for all of their employees. The Look

The building in Newbury Park, which was once a gymnasium, is now the company's flagship premises which they proudly call their Head Office. Various materials and finishes were used throughout the project including the use of melamine, wood veneer and flashes of orange which are in-keeping with Elliot Leigh's brand identity.

The Outcome

The new layout and design allowed for better collaboration and versatility amongst the teams and offers the flexibility needed which will promote future growth.

Now that Elliot Leigh is all under one roof there is greater synergy within the company. Impromptu corridor conversations and social interactions at lunch time will truly benefit each team and help nurture workplace relationships and collaboration.

Your Workspace installed various boardroom and meeting room tables and different styles of chair. Sit Stand desking, their flagship desk range that has flexibility at its core and allows each user to adjust the height of their workstation to cater to their individual needs and preferences. Bespoke veneered executive desks and chairs were also installed, as well as furniture for communal and breakout spaces. Elliot Leigh also chose to incorporate a Storage Wall unit into their new Head Office. Storage Wall is totally customisable and takes advantage of all of the vertical and horizontal space available. It has provided the business with a practical and stylish storage solution that fits seamlessly into their new office environment.
